Old Oak.

Of late it has become quite the fashion to collect old oak; the revival of decorative art during the last few years has again turned attention to old work, and its value is now fully recognized; it is becoming rare. Ten years ago numerous specimens were to be had in the old timbered farm-houses in Lancashire and Cheshire; much of it still remained as it had been for centuries, and I have many pleasant recollections of the old kitchens, with open fire-places and low ceiling well supported on oak beams, filled with grand old tables, corner-cupboards, buffets and pewter racks, well stored with the brightly-polished pewter. I remember some instances where the old oak has been put to very ignominious uses. I have seen fine old coffers used as corn-bins in stables, and I rescued once a noble buffet which a boy had turned into the home of four pink-eyed ferrets.

Some years ago Belgium was an excellent field, and during one trip there I collected in Antwerp, Ghent, Maline, Bruges and the little towns in their vicinity, over a dozen of the finest specimens of Flemish work I ever saw; last year I went over the same ground without finding one desirable antique, although I found lots of imitations were to be had, and were being sold as antique. There is an old man in Ghent who imitates them very cleverly, in fact, so successfully that it is really difficult to tell the spurious from the genuine. One day (it was Saturday), I went to see him; he showed me several specimens which I pronounced shams; he was very indignant and assured me they were "his ancient veritable antiquities." I went away, and next day, Sunday, coming out of a church near his place, I found his yard door open, and got a view through it of the old sinner very busy with a pot of ammonia and a brush, staining up a new cabinet into a "veritable antique." I went into the yard and found the old fellow had quite a collection of old panels, molds and carvings which he manufactured into tables and cabinets, and sold as genuine.—American Architect.

The Press of Business.

An Oil City young man was reading about recent doings in the Arctic regions, and his best girl was sitting near by, watching the wagging of his mustache as the words rolled out. She was evidently more absorbed in the mustache than in the story. He continued: "She arrived at the mouth of the River Lena about three months ago. The Jeannette was crushed—" "What?" asked the girl quickly, standing up. "Jeannette was crushed by—" "Oh! but wasn't that just too lovely. Only think, to be completely crushed!" "What are you talking about, dearest?" asked the young man in surprise. "I was saying how grand it was to be crushed. Did you say it was Lena or Jeannette that was crushed?" "Jeannette, of course." "Oh! how I wish I had been in Jeannette's place." Then the press of business necessitated turning down the gas.—Oil City Derrick.

The Natural Result.

An Austrian family was recently blessed with a baby boy, the first one in the family. Next door was a family in which there were half a dozen children. When the arrival of the boy next door was announced, little Johnny, aged six years, asked: "Have they dot a boy, sure enough?" "Yes, there is a boy over there at last." "Then they will have a whole lot more. That's the way we did." —

Ralph Waldo Emerson.

As illustrating the style of the late Ralph Waldo Emerson, below are two of his poems. The first is a clever little fable; the other the celebrated patriotic poem which has been so widely quoted:

THE MOUNTAIN AND THE SQUIRREL.
The mountain and the squirrel
Had a quarrel;
And the former called the latter Little Prig;
Bun replied:
You are doubtless very big,
But all sorts of things and weather
Must be taken in together,
To make up a year,
And a sphere.
And I think no disgrace
To occupy my place.
If I'm not so large as you,
You are not so small as I,
And not half so spry.
I'll not deny you make
A very pretty squirrel trap.
Talents differ; all is well and wisely put
If I cannot carry forests on my back,
Neither can you crack a nut.

The other poem of a high order of poetry is entitled:

THE CONCORD HYMN.

By the wide bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept—
Alike the conqueror silent sleeps;
And time the ruined bridge has swept
Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set to-day a votive stone,
That memory may their dead redeem,
When like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit, that made these heroes there
To die and leave their children free,
Bid time and nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and thee!

Experiments in Feeding.

The superintendent of the model farm at Guelph, Canada, gives as below the results of some experiments made there in cattle breeding:

1. A steady frosty winter is better than an open one in feeding cattle.
2. An average 2 or 3 year old steer will eat its own weight of different materials in two weeks.
3. Two or 3 year old cattle will add one-third of a pound more per day to their weight upon prepared hay and roots than upon the same materials unprepared.
4. It is 30 per cent. more profitable to premature and dispose of fattening cattle at two years old than to keep them up to three years.
5. There is no loss in feeding a cattle beast well upon a variety of materials for the sake of manure alone.
6. Farm-yard manure from well-fed cattle 3 years old is worth an average of $2.30 per ton.
7. A 3-year-old cattle beast, well fed, will give at least one ton of manure every month of winter.
8. No cattle beast whatever will pay for the direct increase to its weight from the consumption of any kind or quantity of food.
9. On an average it costs 12 cents for every additional pound of flesh added to the weight of a 2 or 3 year old fattening steer.
10. In Canada the market value of store cattle can be increased 36 per cent. during six months of finishing by good feeding.
11. In order to secure a safe profit, no store cattle beast, well done to, can be sold at less than 4½ cents per pound (live weight).
12. In the fattening of wethers, to finish as shearings, the Cotswold and Leicester grades can be made up to 200 pounds, the Oxford down 180 pounds, and the South down (grade) 160 pounds each, live weight.
13. A cow wintered upon two tons and a half of hay will produce not far from five tons of manure, provided that she be well littered and none of the excrements be wasted.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

WEDNESDAY EVE., SEPT. 6, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

The new Superior court was organized at Frankfort on Monday.

Under the postal laws and regulations neither husband or wife can control the delivery of the correspondence addressed to the other.

The returns from all the counties in the State have been received at Frankfort and the official figures show Capt. Henry's majority to be 40,217.

CAPT. T. J. HENRY, the newly elected clerk of the Court of Appeals, was sworn into office on Monday. Capt. Sam. Gaines, of Hopkinsville, Capt. Thomas G. Poore, of Clinton, and Mr. James McAuliffe, of Frankfort, are his deputies.

The People's Platform.

The approaching elections for Congress will enable many constituencies that were betrayed or misrepresented at the late session to settle accounts with candidates who want to be returned to the next House of Representatives. This is the opportunity, and it is likely to be improved. The people's platform is easily understood. It needs no explanation. Let every candidate for Congress be compelled to commit himself in writing to these reforms:

1. Reduction in all the public expenditures.
 2. Rigidly honest appropriations of public money.
 3. No absenteeism except for sickness or for other sufficient reason, distinctly announced and recorded.
 4. No pairing.
 5. No jobbery.
 6. A full day's work.
 7. Honest investigations.
 8. No junketing committees or commissions.
- These written pledges would soon work a much-needed reform. Members would find themselves constantly under the fire of public scrutiny, and they would hardly venture to provoke resentment by flagrant disregard of public sentiment. The experiment is worth trying, and now is the time to make it.

Danger Ahead.

The Republicans of Mason, Nicholas, and Fleming counties have nominated Hon. W. H. Wadsworth for Congress, and it may be expected that he will be the nominee of the Catlettsburg convention without opposition. He is an able speaker, and one of the strongest characters in the Republican party. He will be able to bring all the machinery of the organization to his aid, and will give the Democracy some trouble, if the differences in the 9th district are not satisfactorily adjusted at Grayson. The present outlook is not very favorable for a harmonious meeting on account of the split in Nicholas, and the bitter personal issue which it involves. The two leading candidates for the Democratic nomination were not permitted to measure their strength at Carlisle without the incumbency of an outside weight which ought not to have been forced upon them. The conflict between the Hargis and anti-Hargis factions seems irrepressible, and we are very sorry to believe that it may result disastrously to the Democratic party unless it is driven out of the Grayson convention, and not considered in naming the person who is to bear the flag of the party.

We hope the delegates at Grayson will have the good sense to see the peril and the wisdom and courage to avert it. If the Hargis issue is made in the canvass it will be likely to result in the election of Mr. Wadsworth.

Wolseley telegraphs from Ismailia: All quiet at the front. The Highland brigade will remain afloat for the present to furnish working parties here. I am clearing out hospitals and sending away wounded and serious cases of sickness in the troop ship Malabar.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Dr. J. S. Robb, a prominent physician of Bellefontaine, Ohio, dropped dead on Monday.

Allen North, a photographer, committed suicide at Toledo, O., on account of financial troubles.

A fire at Union, Indiana, on Monday, destroyed one block and several other buildings besides. The loss is $75,000.

The iron workers at Pittsburg have refused the compromise offered them, and the outlook is said to be very discouraging.

A woman died of injuries received in a charge made by the military on Saturday, at Dublin. One of the soldiers was arrested.

R. H. Hayward, a printer, committed suicide by cutting his throat, at San Antonio, Texas. He was a brother of Lieutenant Hayward, of the U. S. navy.

A young son of W. S. Newberry, a colored man living at Springfield, Ohio, applied for admission into the white public schools, and being refused, a suit is to be instituted to establish the rights claimed.

Abdallah Bey, Aide-de-camp of the Khedive, has proceeded on a mission to ports on the Red Sea to stir up among the natives a loyal feelings toward the Khedive and to encourage operations against Arabi Pasha from that quarter.

Fred Erb, the crack shooter of the west, challenges any man in America to shoot prairie chickens in the field for from $100 to $200 aside, the birds to be shot on the wing; the match to take place in Kansas or Nebraska in two or three weeks hence.

On Monday night Jeff Robards, a farmer living near Harrodsburg, visited Sam Ball, a neighbor, and while talking to him was shot and instantly killed by Ball's brother. A negro woman is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. Ball is in custody.

It is now quite probable that W. G. George, the wonderful English amateur racer, will take a trip to this country in October. A prominent member of the New York Athletic Club has written to him in reply to an epistle from George in reference to a match with Myers, the American champion. The latter is willing to meet his British rival between October 15th and November 15th, in a series of races, half-mile, three-quarters of a mile and one mile.

A despatch from Portsmouth, O., says: Saloon keepers are being prosecuted, fined and jailed for violations of the Smith Sunday Law. They are taken over three miles out of the city, before a country squire, where they get no mercy. So far some six or eight have been attended to, and about twenty more will follow. Great indignation exists over this unusual manner in sending spies to the city to prepare the way for these wholesale arrests and multiplied costs in a country court.

The London Times says: "Though General Wolseley does not require a third division, the government is determined to strengthen his hands by sending three battalions of infantry, so that General Wood may be set free without leaving the garrison less than five thousand men at Alexandria. Reserve depots of one hundred and fifty men for each of the regiments which are at front with General Wolseley will also be formed at Alexandria, and a large depot of a thousand reserve men will be formed to replace these as they are drafted to the front to supply the casualties. The general result of these measures will be that General Wolseley will have twenty-two thousand men on the main line of operations, besides the garrison at Alexandria and the Indian contingent."

The following notice of Huntley's Dramatic Company, which will appear at the Opera House on the 11th and 12th inst., is taken from the Nashville (Tenn.) Herald, where the troupe lately gave an entertainment:

We unhesitatingly pronounce the Huntley Company one of the best, if not the very best Dramatic Companies ever in this city. Each member of the troupe possesses more than ordinary ability, while the three stars, Miss Florence Kennedy, and Messrs. J. H. Huntley and John D. Blaisdell, are artists of an order rarely seen in the smaller towns. In their opening play, "Flirtation," they were simply grand, and held their audience as if spell bound. It was a beautiful play, most attractively presented, the ladies appearing in rich and costly costumes. We have not the space at this late hour to write as much as we would like of the play last night, "Woman's Devotion." Suffice it to say, it was fully up to the high character of the first performance, and that it elicited the warmest applause. It is a pleasure to have such a company visit us, and we hope they will favor us again before very long.

Towns must grow and trade increase,
By nerve and enterprise;
And they who'd live must have the pluck
To risk and advertise.
There are people in the town
Who do not advertise;
Good customers go past their door
The cheery cash likewise.
And then they post their books at night
The saddest men in town,
And ever and anon they moan,
"This place is going down."

WARNING.

The temporary bridge over Limestone creek, in this city, is only for the use of people afoot, on horseback, two-horse stages or carriages, two-horse empty wagons, and one-horse vehicles. People are especially warned not to attempt to cross on the temporary bridge with loaded wagons. By order of bridge committee,
J. H. HALL, Chairman pro tem.

THE Morning Mail took from Maysville on Tuesday, one hundred and seventy-five passengers.

THE time for spicing and pickling fruit has come and the economical housewife may be seen going through her husband's vest pocket for cloyes.

JOSH BILLINGS says: "A reputashup, once broken may possibly be repaired, but the world will always keep their eyes on the spot where the crack was."

THE temporary bridge over Limestone creek will be opened to the public, to-day or to-morrow. It will be seen by a warning notice printed elsewhere that it is safe only for light vehicles. Loaded wagons should not attempt to cross it.

CRUELTY to animals consists in part of tying horses to posts in the blazing sun; neglecting to put good fly nets over them; suffering them to travel half a day without rest or water, and shutting them up in hot stables over night when fresh air and open fields are abundant. The merciful man has not been known to do this.

THE English sparrows, which were supposed to be insectivorous birds, are becoming a nuisance. They live on grains and seeds, and leave the caterpillars and worms on the fruit trees undisturbed. They burrow in stone and brick walls, tear out mortar and do other kinds of mischief, and in short are a nuisance.

WHILE the Cincinnati Exposition is in progress no passenger on any of the boats of the White Collar Line will be permitted to enter the pilot house. This order has been made on account of the collision between the steamers Scioto and Lomas on the Upper Ohio some months ago. It will be remembered that the pilot house of the Lomas was crowded with passengers at the time the accident occurred.

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Annual Conference at Carlisle---The Preliminaries as Noted by the Bulletin's Special Correspondent.

TUESDAY.

We reached Carlisle this p. m., and have hastily taken a survey of the town and its surroundings. One of the clergy remarked that the place reminded him of the "city set on a hill." Another versed in the stirring records of Rome, likened it to the city set on seven hills. It is a beautiful place and one of which its inhabitants may well be proud.

From the committee on arrangements and reception we learn that a generous and warm-hearted hospitality has been extended to the members of the conference. Numerous visitors are expected and the excellent hotels will doubtless be full. Indications point to a most pleasant and harmonious session. A noble band of men will gather here to report the results of their year's labors, and take counsel together how best to prosecute their work in the future. It were needless to speak of the good results that flow from the faithful labor bestowed by these men in their different spheres of toil.

With sister branches of the church their aim is to subserve the highest interests of humanity. That they are a self-denying, self-sacrificing body of men no one who is acquainted with them will deny.

On to-morrow the session begins and we shall try to give a faithful and accurate account of all proceedings.

NOTES.

Dr. C. W. Miller, we regret to learn, is still quite low. The third operation of drawing the water from his lungs was performed yesterday by Drs. Stitt and Skillman, assisted by other physicians. We shall report any change in his condition. Dr. Miller is a prominent member of the conference, having been a delegate to several general conferences, and also to the great ecumenical conference held in London. He is a writer of rare ability, a sound theologian and a distinguished preacher. That he may be spared to his family and to the cause to which he had devoted his life is the earnest prayer of many.

The examination of the various classes is in progress.

There are present three candidates for admission into the traveling connection, viz: Revs. F. S. Pollitt, W. W. Green and C. E. Boswell.

We might add here that candidates have a rigid examinations from the recommendation by the quarterly conference until their ultimate admission as full fledged members of the conference.

Rev. H. G. Henderson preached last night, and Rev. W. F. Vaughn is appointed to preach to-night.

The evening train from Paris will bring a large delegation.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mrs. W. H. Ambrose is visiting at Lexington.

Miss Mollie Varian has returned home to Winchester, after a pleasant visit to her sister, Mrs. L. C. Ballenger.

Misses Bell Stevens and Anna Swope, two interesting young ladies, of Georgetown, Ohio, who were visiting Miss Sallie Stevens, of this county, last week, have returned home.

Double Wedding.

Mr. John Henderson, pilot of the Morning Mail, will be married to-morrow morning, in Campbell county to one of her fairest daughters. The same day his own daughter will be united in marriage to a Mr. Henderson. Both couples will spend their honeymoon at the Alexandria fair.

WHAT are the people throughout the county doing in the way of preparing exhibits for the coming county fair? The success of the fair depends largely upon the interest taken by the people in making an attractive exhibition. We especially urge the ladies to see that their department is well filled. The fair begins on the 19th inst.

MR. ROBERT FICKLIN, SR., has received from a friend in New Jersey, a specimen of the fine granite found in that region. It is said to be equal to any in the world and on account of its handsome color, its capacity for fine finish and its durable qualities, it is largely used for monuments everywhere.

Why Not?

Editor Bulletin: Now, that the Telephone Company have painted their poles throughout the city, making them look somewhat decent and respectable, would it not be an excellent idea for the city council by proper resolution, to require that large and wealthy corporation, the Western Union Telegraph Company to pull down the ugly, knotty sticks and limbs of trees, with which they adorn our streets, and put up straight telegraph poles of a uniform size and length, and pint them, within the city limits? The council required this much of the Telephone Company, why not of a larger, wealthier monopoly, who are reaping immense revenue from our people, using our thoroughfares for the purpose. The ugly poles that now disfigure our streets, are a disgrace to the company and to our city.

Council has the power to regulate this matter and should do so at once.

IS IT GAMBLING?

Novel Defense to a Suit on a Grain Option.

A Claim That Speculating in Grain is Gambling Under the Laws of Ohio—History of an Interesting Case.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

A suit in progress in Squire Anthony's Court which makes an important issue. The case, as the plaintiff states it, is as follows: In October of last year, William Cole, a farmer near Maysville, Ky., came to Cincinnati with $500, which he intended to invest in wheat. He called on John T. Snodgrass, then agent for Field, Lindley & Co., of Chicago, who took the trade for his house, investing, at Cole's direction, in ten thousand bushels of wheat and a certain number of tierces of lard. In the then state of the market, Field, Lindley & Co. refused the trade, but turned it over to Sherwin & Co., brokers. Cole's wheat was to be delivered in December of last year. He afterwards was shown a telegram from the Chicago parties stating that Cole's trade had made money, but stating that Snodgrass was behind in his settlements, and they would recognize no individual transactions, but should gobble the whole amount. Afterward Snodgrass refunded, at three different times, $243 40, leaving a balance of $256 60, for which Cole sues. He says he was willing to take it now and pay for it, that he bought in good faith.

The defense set up to this action is the point of interest. The defendant claims that the transaction was gambling and illegal under the laws of Ohio, and, further, that more than six months having elapsed since the transaction the plaintiff is not entitled to recover under the statute, section 4270. If this defense is successful it will carry some consternation into the Grain Board, and render transactions there doubly insecure.

The case before Justice Anthony is being tried by a jury composed of Otto Schuchardt, William F. Gass, George Crawford, H. Korf, Philip Belker and F. Pille. It has been in progress since Saturday. Messrs. Lewis Irwin and Samuel V. Reid represent the prosecution, and Mr. Nelson Saylor is for the defense.

There are about twenty other suits to follow this, whatever the issue of it may be. The statute under which the defense is made is as follows:

4270. If any person, by playing at any game or by means of any bet or wager, loses to any other person any sum of money or other thing of value, and pays or delivers the same, or any part thereof, to the winner, the person who so loses and pays or delivers may, at any time within six months next after such loss and payment or delivery, sue for and recover the money or thing of value so lost and paid or delivered, or any part thereof, from the winner thereof, with costs of suit, by civil action, founded on this chapter, before any court of competent jurisdiction.

The international military rifle match will take place at Creedmoor September 14th and 15th, instead of September 15th and 16th, as originally fixed. The change of date was rendered necessary by the requirements of traffic on the Long Island Railroad.

Two very desirable double dwellings, situated on Forest Avenue, East Maysville, will be offered at public sale, on Monday next, the 11th inst. These houses are in good repair, are very desirable homes, and as they are situated in a pleasant neighborhood, they will, no doubt, be sold readily.

Shadows of Matrimony.

Ling John Herm, a young Chinaman of Boston, made love acceptably to Kate Englehardt, while visiting Philadelphia, and they were married. Although she was a young and pretty girl of good character, the Mongol failed to appreciate his prize, and whipped her brutally before a week had elapsed, besides spitefully cutting up her clothes. They were separated.

A thrifty young farmer living near Crittenden, Ky., is now thirty years old, and was first married August 28, 1872. Since that time he has buried two wives and is now living with the third, having been a widower twenty-one months. He is now the father of eleven children—eight boys and three girls. He has two pair of twin boys.

The marriage of Timothy Haley, aged seventy-five, to a girl of seventeen was not expected by the people of Brookville, Ky., to prove a happy one; yet they are surprised by the separation that has taken place, as it was brought about by the old man instead of the bride. He is convinced, he says, that she married him solely for his money; and she gives color to his charge by suing him for one-third of his $10,000.

Miss Bourne eloped with her lover at Whitehall, N. Y., but on the condition that, immediately after the marriage ceremony, she should be allowed to go back home, and tell her mother. Her idea was that the maternal objection to the young man could be overcome by argument as soon as she was his wife. But the plan miscarried. The mother had so much the best of the discussion that the bride was convinced, instead of convincing, and when the bridegroom came for her next day, she informed him that she desired never to get eyes on him again. She even put on boys' clothes, and escaped, while he was watching the house, so thorough was her change of purpose.

Cannibalism in Fiji.

It was only people who had been killed that were considered good for food. Those who died a natural death were never eaten—invariably buried. But it certainly is a wonder that the isles were not altogether depopulated, owing to the number who were killed. Thus, in Namena, in the year 1851, fifty bodies were cooked for one feast. And when the men of Bau were at war with the men of Verata they carried off 260 bodies, seventeen of which were piled on a canoe and sent to Rewa, where they were received with wild joy, dragged about town and subjected to every species of indignity ere they finally reached the ovens. Then, too, just think of the number of lives sacrificed in a country where infanticide was a recognized institution, and where widows were strangled as a matter of course! Why, on one occasion, when there had been a horrible massacre of Namena people at Viwa, and upward of 100 fishermen had been murdered, and their bodies carried as bokola to the ovens at Bau, no less than eighty women were strangled to do honor to the dead, and corpses lay in every direction about the mission station. It is just thirty years since the Rev. John Watsford, writing from here, described how twenty-eight victims had been seized in one day while fishing. They were brought here alive, and only stunned when put into the ovens. Some of the miserable creatures attempted to escape from the scorching bed of red-hot stones, but only to be driven back and buried in that living tomb, whence they were taken a few hours later to feast their barbarous captors. He adds that more human beings were eaten on this little isle of Bau than anywhere else in Fiji. It is very hard, indeed, to realize that the peaceful village on which I am now looking has really been the scene of such horrors as these, and that many of the gentle, kindly people around me have actually taken part in them.—At Home in Fiji.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunc to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.
Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for best as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. j27d.
